FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

BID-A-FLIGHT Launches: The First Online Marketplace Where Jet Prices Are Negotiated in Real Time

Los Angeles, CA — January 21, 2026 —

A revolutionary new platform, BID-A-FLIGHT, is transforming the way private jet travel is booked. Founded by entrepreneur Graeme X. Barrington, the platform introduces a first-of-its-kind bid-based marketplace that allows passengers and flight operators to negotiate directly in real time — ushering in a new era of transparency and flexibility in private aviation.

Through BID-A-FLIGHT, travelers can post their desired flight, set their preferred price, and receive offers from Fixed Base Operators (FBOs), charter companies, and private jet brokers nationwide. Each listing opens the door to competitive pricing and instant responses from flight providers — turning the process of booking a private jet into a transparent digital experience.

At the core of the platform are two powerful tools: the “BID” and “COUNTER BID” buttons. These interactive features enable passengers and operators to negotiate directly — live and on-screen. For example, a passenger may offer $22,000 for a Los Angeles to New York flight, and the operator can respond instantly by clicking COUNTER BID to propose $24,500. Considering that a heavy jet flight from LAX to NYC typically costs around $31,000, the passenger could save up to $6,000 or more — all through BID-A-FLIGHT’s real-time negotiation system.

“The goal is to bring price transparency and efficiency to private aviation,” says Barrington. “We’ve created a digital marketplace where passengers can name their price — and operators can choose to accept or counter it in seconds.”

In a world where the aircraft themselves represent some of the most valuable assets in transportation — such as the $72 million Gulfstream G800, the Bombardier Global 7500, and the Dassault Falcon 10X — BID-A-FLIGHT provides a seamless way for these jets to find the passengers who value both speed and discretion.

The platform will feature partnerships and listings from some of the most recognized names in private aviation, including Gulfstream Jets, Clay Lacy Aviation, FlexJet, NetJets, and VistaJet. By bridging the gap between elite operators and high-net-worth travelers, BID-A-FLIGHT delivers a truly modern approach to booking charter flights.

For passengers: BID-A-FLIGHT offers the ability to name your price, receive multiple bids, and negotiate instantly — all while browsing aircraft ranging from light jets to long-range intercontinental models.

For FBOs, brokers, and operators: the platform provides an exclusive opportunity to connect directly with verified passengers, fill empty legs, and secure last-minute deals — all in a private, real-time chat environment where identities can remain confidential.

Premium Memberships for operators are available at $5,000 per year, offering unlimited access to passenger listings, no commissions, and private chat capabilities to finalize deals.

BID-A-FLIGHT isn't just another listing site — it's a digital negotiation marketplace designed to modernize private aviation, connecting serious travelers with serious operators, all at the click of a BID or COUNTER BID button.
